

"The Oak Tree" wine cellar was brought to life by the Katodritis family, who have a history in the trading of wines that dates back in the 1950's. Today, the company is run by Mr. Sergios Katodritis who is a co-founder and the person in charge of the cellar, located in the old center of Larnaca town.

The cellar was constructed with all the specifications for an ideal display and cellaring of wines. The company favors to stock and trade wines that are produced by relatively small producers, cultivating in small regional vine yards and wines that are often made with indigenous grape varieties. These characteristics ensure the authenticity of the wines coming from specific regions of the world.

Part of the philosophy that governs the company's activities, is targeted at ensuring that customers really appreciate quality wines before they proceed to purchase. For this reason, the company has accommodated for a special place both in the cellar and on the online store, where customers can be educated through wine making and/or tasting sessions, thereby stimulating their appetite and enriching their knowledge on vines and wines.

At "The Oak Tree" wine cellar, as well as the online store www.cypruswinesonline.com, wine consumers can find a wide range of wines from
